CONSTRUCTION ROUNDTABLE OF NEW JERSEY (CRTNJ)

The Construction Roundtable of New Jersey was established to act as a network to inform, educate and promote the Owner's appreciation and understanding of the forces within the construction industry, which ultimately affects costs. Executives representing major corporations in New Jersey formed the CRTNJ, formerly the North Jersey Construction Users Council, in 1970. The CRTNJ is a Local User Council (LUC) affiliated with the Construction Committee of the National Business Roundtable. There are approximately 40 active independent LUC'S throughout the United States.

The CRTNJ develops programs and presents speakers which inform the members not only of the current findings and recommendations of the Business Roundtable, the CICE and CII task forces, but also the current issues facing the construction industry in New Jersey.
